Course Safety Protocols

In response to the current COVID-19 pandemic, the course format may be subject to change with little to no notice, depending upon state, local, and University guidelines. Chapman University's mandatory safety measures may be stricter than local, state or federal guidelines and may be subject to change at any time. The COVID-19 pandemic requires all of us to accept the possibility that changes in how this course is taught may be required and that some changes may occur with little or no notice. If any changes occur, you will be given clear instructions as to how to proceed. The uncertainty of the pandemic situation is not ideal for any of us, but we must all try to approach this situation with good-will, flexibility, and mutual understanding.

University Pandemic Policies

Faculty, Staff, and Students are required to adhere to all University mandated policies. For your convenience, the following is an updated summary of policies as they relate to the class. These are subject to change as the pandemic situation changes. The most updated policies can be found at <https://cusafelyback.chapman.edu/>.

Catalog Description

Prerequisites: None. An introduction to the theories and concepts within the field of international relations. Topics include major global issues such as conflict, development, technological growth, current events, ecosystem balance, war and violence, and the distribution of power and resources. (Offered every semester.) 3 credits.

Course Description

This course is meant to provide students with an introduction to the major theories within the field of international relations: Realism, Liberalism, and Marxism. We will use these approaches to address a variety of issues, including the rise of the modern state system, the origins of World War I, the Cold War, the Gulf and Iraq Wars, the genocide in Rwanda, free trade, globalization, North-South relations, the environment, and human rights. The primary aims of the course are to demonstrate how theory influences our explanations; to familiarize students with some important issues in international politics; and most important, to help students evaluate contemporary issues in international politics.

To give you an in-depth introduction to the subject, we will predominantly focus on reading theoretical, qualitative, and quantitative academic research articles and book chapters. You need not have prior experience in this field to do well in the course, but rather an open mind and a willingness to learn are sufficient.

Course Objectives

Substantively we will cover issues such as:

1. The use of theories in international relations
2. The role of states within the global system
3. The impact of international law and international organizations on power dynamics
4. Issues within global civil society and their relationship with the global political economic system
5. Inequities on a global scale and problems with protecting people
6. Distinguishing between inter-state and intra-state conflict
7. The relationship between one-sided violence and global security

In the case of any statistical evidence, be aware that this course assumes familiarity with (very) basic algebra. Nevertheless, we will focus on developing an intuition for analyzing strategic behavior rather than developing technical skills.

Student Learning Outcomes for Political Science

- Differentiate among the power dynamics governing processes across several countries.
- Be able to use and apply different theories of international relations to explain global system phenomena.
- Demonstrate the habit of accessing sources of political knowledge and the skill to critically interpret, assess and apply evidence.

- Demonstrates competence in reading and understanding carefully articulated empirical studies on politics.
- Demonstrates competence in comprehensively writing an essay on the study of international relations.
- Students identify, frame and analyze the dynamics associated with inter-state and intra-state conflict.

Social Inquiry Learning Outcome

- Students identify, frame and analyze social and/or historical structures and institutions in the world today.

Citizenship Learning Outcome

- Student demonstrates through analysis and/or personal engagement an understanding of the emergence, development, operations, and/or consequences of political systems in the US and/or other countries. Student can identify the rights and responsibilities of citizens and/or leaders as embodied in political, civic, or service organizations.

Community Learning Outcome

- Student demonstrates through analysis and/or personal engagement an understanding of the emergence, development, changes and challenges to and, in some cases, destruction of diverse social groups who are marginalized within the context of larger societal environments.
- Student demonstrates through written, oral, media or other communication process a critical perspective on issues of civil rights, self-representation, participatory politics, and/or similar issues of inclusiveness.

Service Learning Outcome

- Student examines the theoretical and/or applied aspects of community service through coursework and/or through active engagement in a service -earning experience and demonstrates: the ability to apply discipline-specific and/or interdisciplinary knowledge and critical thinking skills to community issues, critical self-reflection of the student's own.

Textbooks

The textbook for the course is:

- McGlinchey, S., 2017. International Relations. E-International Relations.

This textbook is referred to throughout the Weekly Schedule section as McG (short for McGlinchey).

All other texts referenced in the Weekly Schedule section of the syllabus are available online via Canvas. It is highly recommended that students complete the readings prior to course sessions each week.

Course Structure

Assignment Overview

Grading is facilitated through attendance, discussion participation and assignments, three exams, and a group project that also requires one meeting appointment. All assignments in this course will be submitted digitally via Canvas.

Assignment Weights

The weights associated with each of the course assignments are as follows:

- Attendance (Throughout term: 5%)
- Discussion Participation and Assignments (Throughout term: 5%)
- Group Project Workshop Meeting (One required during the term: 5%)
- Exam 1 (Week 5: 15%)
- Exam 2 (Week 8: 20%)
- Exam 3 (Finals Week: 25%)
- Group Project (Assigned Week 1, Due Week 15: 25%)

In-person Meeting Attendance, and Discussion Assignments

As we are starting the semester with in-person learning, attendance is required at all session meetings unless otherwise stated. Attendance cannot be made up except as described in the "Emergencies and Exceptional Circumstances" section of this syllabus, found under "Course Policies." The weekly schedule can be found at the end of the syllabus in the Weekly Schedule section. Students who do not attend the first two weeks of the course will be dropped from the course roster.

Any media provided will be available throughout the course on YouTube for streaming. This means only those with access to the links in the course will have the capacity to access these video, as they will be unlisted and private otherwise. At the end of the term, these videos will be removed from the online media repository.

Weekly session meetings will include a Discussion Assignment to be completed with fellow classmates during the session, and which will inform the subsequent discussion conversation. These assignments will be posted on Canvas and will only be available during the allotted time during the session. Discussion Assignments cannot be made up except as described in the "Emergencies and Exceptional Circumstances" section of this syllabus, found under "Course Policies."

Group Project Workshop Meetings

Students are required to sign-up for and attend at least one group project workshop meeting with their group during the semester. After signing up for the meeting, students will receive an email one week before their scheduled time with an assignment that must be completed and submitted to the instructor by 11:59 PM (PST) three days before the scheduled meeting. This assignment is worth half of the meeting credit and will focus on the group project. Meetings will last approximately 15 minutes. Students are responsible for ensuring they complete this requirement in a timely manner as no additional workshop time slots beyond those under the Weekly Schedule will be made available.

Grading Policy

A standard grading scale will be used. I reserve the right to curve the scale dependent on overall course grades at the end of the semester (not before it). Any curve will only ever make it easier to obtain a certain letter grade.

The grade grading scale is as follows:

A	=	94 - 100+%	B	=	84 - 86.99%	C	=	74 - 76.99%	D	=	64 - 66.99%
A-	=	90 - 93.99%	B-	=	80 - 83.99%	C-	=	70 - 73.99%	D-	=	60 - 63.99%
B+	=	87 - 89.99%	C+	=	77 - 79.99%	D+	=	67 - 69.99%	F	=	59.99% - 0%

Course Policies

The Syllabus

The syllabus is a contract between the instructor and the students enrolled in this course. If you decide to remain in the class, you accept the course requirements and thereby agree to abide by them. It is important that you know what this class entails, that you acknowledge its requirements and evaluation criteria, and that you make a commitment to finishing the work in a timely and responsible fashion. If necessary, the syllabus and its contents are subject to revision; students are responsible for any changes or modifications posted on Chapman University's course management system, Canvas.

Audio and Video Capabilities

You must have access to a computer with audio and video capabilities in case of remote instruction, as well as to review any recorded (if applicable) or supplementary material. While you are not required to turn on your video camera during any potential digital meetings, you should at the least be able to ask questions verbally should the need arise. If you have a disability that prevents you from expressing yourself verbally, you are welcome to participate using text via the Chat feature on Zoom instead. In all cases, please mute your microphone on Zoom unless you have a question or wish to comment on the material. In fact, you are welcome to interject at any point during a remote class meeting should you have a question or wish to comment on the material. Otherwise, please mute your microphone until you are ready to speak so as to not unnecessarily disturb others. Be courteous of others.

Attendance Policy

The material for the course can at times seem complex if students do not attend lecture regularly. It is therefore suggested you attend as many (if not all) of the class meetings as you can. Attendance will be taken in each course session and will count towards your final grade. If there is an issue preventing you from attending, do reach out and/or come see the Instructor sooner rather than later.

Please be aware that university policy prohibits a passing grade for students missing 20 percent of course sessions, or in our case more than 5 class meetings. I will require verification for all excused absences

Late Assignment Policy

Except when otherwise indicated, late assignments will be deducted one and one-half (1 1/2) letter grade for every twenty-four (24) hours it is late, up to a maximum of forty-eight (48) hours. After forty-eight (48) hours, the student will receive a grade of zero (0) for the assignment.

Emergencies and Exceptional Circumstances

Should an emergency arise, the student must contact the Instructor as soon as possible, and preferably before a course session. Any emergencies must be accompanied by evidence (i.e., note from a Doctor as evidence of having been in a hospital). Routine checkups are not considered medical emergencies and should thus be discussed with the Instructor as soon as possible before they occur. Any accidents must be accompanied by photographic evidence by email. Failure to contact the Instructor in a timely manner will result in a judgment call on the Instructor's part and is completely dependent on the gravity of the situation. In all cases, the Instructor's decision on the matter is final.

Exams

All exam information will be distributed at least one week before each exam is due.

Challenging a Grade

Students who wish to challenge a grade are required to submit a written grievance, which includes: the reasons for their dissatisfaction, the grade received, and what grade they believe is merited. Reasons why the requested grade is merited should be supported by evidence from the assignment or exam in question to justify this appeal. The written grievance should be submitted at least two business days before meeting with the Instructor to discuss the assignment. If you choose to appeal your grade, the Instructor reserves the right to issue a grade that is lower than the existing grade. This second, post-appeal decision is final. The deadline to challenge and possibly change a grade is within forty-eight (48) hours after the posting of the grade on Canvas.

Statement on Academic Integrity and Honesty

Chapman University is a community of scholars that emphasizes the mutual responsibility of all members to seek knowledge honestly and in good faith. Students are responsible for doing their own work, and academic dishonesty of any kind will be subject to sanction by the instructor and referral to the University's Academic Integrity Committee, which may impose additional sanctions including expulsion. Please see the full description of Chapman University's Policy on Academic Integrity Policy online.

Chapman University's Students with Disabilities Policy

In compliance with ADA guidelines, students who have any condition, either permanent or temporary, that might affect their ability to perform in this class are encouraged to contact the Office of Disability Services. If you will need to utilize your approved accommodations in this class, please follow the proper notification procedure for informing your professor(s). This notification process must occur more than a week before any accommodation can be utilized. Please contact Disability Services at (714) 516-4520 if you have questions regarding this procedure, or for information and to make an appointment to discuss and/or request potential accommodations based on documentation of your disability. Once formal approval of your need for an accommodation has been granted, you are encouraged to talk with your professor(s) about your accommodation options. The granting of any accommodation will not be retroactive and cannot jeopardize the academic standards or integrity of the course.

Equity and Diversity Statement

Chapman University is committed to ensuring equality and valuing diversity. Students and professors are reminded to show respect at all times as outlined in Chapman's Harassment and Discrimination Policy. Any violations of this policy should be discussed with the professor, the Dean of Students and/or otherwise reported in accordance with this policy.

Religious Accommodation at Chapman University

Religious Accommodation at Chapman University Consistent with our commitment of creating an academic community that is respectful of and welcoming to persons of differing backgrounds, we believe that every reasonable effort should be made to allow members of the university community to fulfill their obligations to the university without jeopardizing the fulfillment of their sincerely held religious obligations. Please review the syllabus early in the semester and consult with your faculty member promptly regarding any possible conflicts with major religious holidays, being as specific as possible regarding when those holidays are scheduled in advance and where those holidays constitute the fulfillment of your sincerely held religious beliefs.

Respect for Others

Discriminatory/hateful/pejorative and/or demeaning language will not be tolerated. All participants must feel comfortable asking questions and speaking, as voicing one's ideas is essential to the learning experience. Please be respectful of all questions, ideas and views. You will be asked to leave the classroom or Zoom meeting if you disrespect anyone and/or exhibit any form of the above, and you will automatically receive a zero (0) for any attendance or graded assignments due that day. This zero (0) grade cannot be made up under any circumstances.

DISCLAIMER: This Course Contains Mature Content

Like most university-level courses, this course deals with material that may be controversial and sensitive for some people. Often, these topics may invoke strong responses based on political affiliation, religious beliefs, personal identity, and experiences. While we will need to engage with such details at times, they will not be the focus of our inquiry. You should nevertheless be prepared to encounter these references. If you have any concerns about any of the material we will be covering in this course at any time, please see do not hesitate to come see me.
